

ISHTAR – Goddess of Light

10 Words and Teachings

01 - Words about everyday life

It is forbidden to interrupt a hope in the process of becoming, carried by a woman or a man.

Those who break this law, will make a mortal mistake.

For everyone, better than a sense of shame to do wrong, directs your life.

And rejoice without shade at the success of others.

For the future of each of you will also be ensured by that of others than you.

02 - Words on legitimate anger

Anger allows you to oppose an injustice that mistreats your bodies.

Opposing deliberate abuse, which destroys the hope of your bodies, is supported by the Gods.

03 - Words of condemnation

Any offense must be assessed according to the dangerousness of the victim.

If the victim is among those whose heart was forged on the anvil of darkness, what is the point of spending your art to judge these evildoers.

And if the victim possessed the hope of good, then Ishtar's wrath will be unleashed.

04 - Words about existences, powers and births

Listen carefully to this:

You only owe your rank to your presence on Earth.

And the powerful breath of your lungs, which expel the sound of your voice.

And you only owe your presence on Earth to your childbirth.

Because without your childbirth, you don't exist.

If your potential exists everywhere in the universe, it will only be realized through your childbirth.

Thus, childbirth is the source of all existences, and of all powers.

And it's not your fault.

Because none of your plans contributed to it.

05 - Words about fortunes and courage

Don't be too attached to material fortunes.

So as not to be undone if, by another chance in your life, you should miss them.

Look around you.

Your courage will be more admired than your desire to possess.

06 - Words of the revelations about either and his thoughts

Each of your thoughts attracts those who correspond to it.

Only those will adhere to it.

Thus, do not let the admirers of darkness invade you.

Their place is in the darkness.

But you, support the spirits of good. You will find the comfort of the Gods there.

To this comfort, all are called. Even if the elect will prove to be few in number.

Undermined by your own constitution and by your own inclinations.

Those who obscure your life.

Thus, help each other.

For everyone will find their place in society at the time of their life.

And at each way of thinking, those who correspond to it will be revealed in this time.

Thus will be revealed the power of those who would never have had it, in a hierarchy of thought from another time.

07 - Words about numbers

Your number already contains the seeds of the assets and their contradictors.
And the thought in force will lead to the rise of some, or others.
But those whose hearts have been forged on the anvil of darkness, can only exist through the complicity of a power that is favorable to them.
Hear well, and that there are no misunderstandings. They will bring down upon themselves the destruction released by the wrath of the Gods.

08 - Words of eternal women

I Ishtar, Goddess of Light and of all the Incandescences of Good, I greet you.
Now that you're wondering about your body, listen to what I have to say.
I declare this to you:

Determined by me, Ishtar Goddess of Light and by God Umm of combinations, attraction and chance:

Where you will create, no eye can see it.

And it is in you that the greatest of odysseys begins.

Your belly will be the shimmering cave of all the men of light.

They will separate themselves from those whose hearts were forged on the anvil of darkness.

Don't forget it. Your destiny is eternal, and you can change nothing about it.

Because once the beginning has begun, no one can change anything, not even me.

It is the condition of eternity.

Thus, by our will, your creations will all be different.

And to survive, you will have to rely on the mutual aid of all.

Your value will be measured by the piercing gaze of the Gods.

But for you, your power will be to be a creator of bodies.

Thus, women will be body creators.

Because this power lies within you. And only you can support it.

You were elected by the Gods to carry the body of bodies.

And all men will cherish it. Because without him, they will die.

Their lives are numbered, and they will recharge within you.

To them, it will be asked to discover the conditions of the existence of things, and to teach them.

For all things exist, only by the conditions that make them exist.

This is how I speak to you, I Ishtar, Goddess of the Goddesses.

She who is the source of all horizons and destinies.

The one who is apart from everything.

Listen and be reassured.

09 - Words on the end

To your end, you may not see anything.
Only the Gods will decide otherwise for you.
Only the beginning is primordial, for the end brings no renewal.
Thus, your life is based on the boiling of your beginning, and not on your end.
And thanks to women, this beginning is eternal.
Thus, adjust your questioning well.
Because apart from life, there is nothing.
Without the boiling of the beginning, there is nothing.
And in the boiling of the beginning, there is everything.

10 - Words on the beginning

At the beginning was energy: that of the brightness of lightning.
And in the brightness of the lightning radiated my light.
And when my light spread to the confines of the four regions, it illuminated the universe.
And in the universe, Earth stood out.
On this earth, the energies of Goddesses and Gods embraced each other.
And at the top of the mountains, they established their home and began to work.
They called upon the tears of the four regions.
And the tears rushed and splashed over the Earth to create the waves.

From their looks that pierced the earth, they saw the empty plains.
So, they created messengers and messengers to settle there.
First the messengers, then their mirrors: the messengers.
Then, they created their voices each different, so that every 7 days at the passage of the star of the Moon, they told the Gods their benefits.
And to have different voices, you will be subjected to different bodies.
And your voice will trace the guideline of your destiny.
Goddesses and Gods will be attentive to it, and will listen to you.

Now live, and discuss among yourselves.
Enough events will mark your life.
They will be for you, the opportunity to reread my words.
Because they are essential.
